World Economic Forum claims misinformation is top risk to society... while spewing misinformation everywhere

A new report from the globalists at the World Economic Forum has identified “misinformation and disinformation” as the number-one danger to society.

In their report, entitled “The Global Risks Report 2024,” they claim: “Emerging as the most severe global risk anticipated over the next two years, foreign and domestic actors alike will leverage Misinformation and disinformation to further widen societal and political divides.”

The report notes that nearly three billion people will be voting in the coming years, including in the U.S., UK, India, Mexico, Pakistan and Indonesia, and these campaigns may be used to “undermine the legitimacy of newly elected governments.”

Of course, we all know that when the left talks about “misinformation” it is usually a code word for “the truth,” as evidenced by the COVID-19 pandemic. And when they say it needs to be “addressed,” what they really mean is that it should be silenced – and they are usually referring to the independent media here because it’s the only type of media that has been brave enough to try to inform the public about what is really going on.

During the pandemic, the mainstream media was very careful to repeat the narrative that COVID-19 vaccines are safe, effective and helpful. Since Big Pharma sponsors so many mainstream news outlets and networks, they really didn’t have a choice.

It’s no secret that social media played along, too, amplifying posts claiming the vaccines aren’t dangerous while burying posts by those who tried to warn of side effects or simply share their stories of negative outcomes in hopes of helping others avoid a similar fate.

Now, thanks to these efforts, we are dealing with a rise in young people dying suddenly, heart problems, cancer and other health issues in unprecedented numbers, and countless people are suffering from serious mental health problems after being forced into lockdowns, isolation, social distancing, school closures and all of the inflation and financial fallout of these ill-advised measures.

Misinformation label used to censor the truth

Many in the independent media do not have to answer to corporate sponsors and did their best to warn Americans about the dangers of all these measures and the government overreach they embodied. This only earned reproach from those in power, with “misinformation” accusations and labels lobbed at anyone who spoke the truth. Those who refused to give into threats and continued to repeat the truth to the public faced bans, demonetization, harassment and demonization, and many are still struggling to get back on their feet.

Now, it has become clear that the true disseminators of misinformation were mainstream media outlets. Even the staunchest vaccine defenders are no longer insisting these shots do anything to stop the spread of the illness, although no one has apologized to those who lost their jobs or were treated like public health dangers because they wouldn't expose their bodies to these experimental jabs. Even Dr. Anthony Fauci, one of the biggest misinformation spreaders, has conceded that social distancing wasn't really necessary.

In September, a federal appellate court determined that officials from the CDC, FBI, White House and surgeon general likely violated the First Amendment when they carried out a "coordinated campaign" to bully social media platforms into removing free speech that is protected by the U.S. Constitution.

Unfortunately, with the World Economic Forum pursuing "misinformation" with renewed vigor, we are going to see even more of this behavior. It's not surprising considering their goal is to control the global community. On the pretense of stopping dangerous misinformation, they are trying to rally authorities to control the narrative and silence those who share information that goes against their interests so they can move forward with their plans for global dominance.
